Theme:

Global Warning: Child, Youth and Family Matters

“There is a real and powerful global warning circulating. It states that if we do not do for at-risk children, youth and families what they need, the world will continue to hemorrhage and lose valuable, promising, lives. That suggests the future is bleak. We can determine the shape of the human footprint as it affects the lives of our children, youth and families. This conference - The Global Warning: Child, Youth and Family Matters is a laser focus on these issues from the perspective of: Professionals and service providers, the people being served, and the philanthropists and organizations that support the work being done.”

 In response, A Prepare Curriculum option based on the work of Dr. Arnold P. Goldstein is available throughout conference workshops and at the ICART preconference.
